NEWS FROM GRASS VALLEY OREGON!

Submitted by ORP Track Manager Bill Murray

The Grass Valley Market, in conjunction with a handful of government grants and subsidies, is due to get an Electric Super Charging Station at their location. Installation is due perhaps as early as next year. The claimed “90% charge in 15 minutes” should keep the ever growing electric contingent at O.R.P. less worried about the trip home. Think how smug you will feel driving home in your Tesla past all the new windmills that have been installed along Hwy 97.

B.T.W. Speaking of the G.V. Market, The R.J. Burger, compete with a fried egg and a slice of ham, is every bit as delicious as the now extinct but fondly remembered Stanich Burger.* The genuine article is only available whenever R.J. is cooking (accept no substitutes). Give it a try next time you are hanging out in our neighborhood.

After a fun day at the track, and the kind of hungry you can only get from turning hot laps, another local venue to fuel your drive home is ‘The Dirty Cowgirl’ in Wasco. This is a resurrection of the traditional Sherman County watering hole many of you will remember as the “Goose Pit Saloon”. After Kathy’s retirement it has taken 3 years to get the doors open again. They too serve a damn good burger and their beef barley soup is also a good choice.

Also in the news: O.R. P. is happy to announce that due to a fortuitous purchase the price of onsite track fuel (92 Clear) will be substantially lower than the $7.85 per gallon that the track had to pass along last year... at least until this purchase runs out.

* By way of historical reference: The Stanich Burger was served at George Stanich’s restaurant on N.E. Freemont and was a favorite of T.C. Racer and ground pounding Corvette & Camaro Driver Ted Mathey. His record was downing four of them in one sitting, and they weren’t small. Three burgers at a time was a regular habit for Ted and was also highly suspected of contributing to his massive coronary failure at 49. Come to the next General Meeting and I’ll share a couple of Ted Mathey stories. B.C. may have some as well.

P.S. / B.S.

After rereading the submission above, I figured out why my musings drifted to the topic of food. It is the Kato Diet I have been on. That is not to be confused with the Keto Diet (the one that actually works) by eliminating a huge percentage of carbohydrates from ones caloric intake. Conversely, the Kato Diet, as practiced by The Green Hornets side kick and chauffeur Bruce Lee, lets you eat as much of anything that you want ...as long as the meal is consumed in a state of “Toto consintwashun”.
